

Acquisition of MPower's products businesses finalised

Following up on last week's announcement about Legend Corporation's acquisition of MPower's product distribution businesses – Bardic and M+H Power Systems – we are pleased to announce the deal is now complete, effective today.

Bardic and M+H Power Systems are two iconic Australian businesses that deepen Legend's value proposition for customers through the addition of a market-recognised emergency lighting range, a fully-fledged off-grid renewable power solution, and an industrial battery product offering.

Legend is focused on driving new opportunities that increase our distribution here in Australia and New Zealand whilst broadening our customer and distribution network.
